NEGOTIATIONS UPDATE

Dear Brothers,
Dear Sisters,

On January 19, 2017, members of your bargaining committee met with the company. During this bargaining session, the company notified the union that they will submit a notice of dispute and apply for conciliation pursuant to Sections 71 and 72 of the Canada Labour Code.

The company advised the union that the parties were too far apart on monetary items and assessed the union demands as five (5) times what the company was willing to offer. All demands tabled by the union were based on the survey feedback, current industry standards, and the sacrifices made by you during our last collective agreement.

To date, your bargaining committee has met with the company for a total of 18 days and most non-monetary items have been resolved.

Your bargaining committee will need your continued support and solidarity as we move forward through the bargaining process with the goal of concluding a fair collective agreement that recognizes the efforts and sacrifices made by our members that have helped contribute to the success of the company.

We are currently planning on having a 'Special Bargaining Meeting' in the very near future where we will be able to provide more details about the bargaining process. You will be informed of the date and location of this meeting shortly.

We need to see you there!

In Solidarity,

Michel Richer
